ABOARD THE STEAMSHIP "OLD DOMIN-CITIZEN OF WHEELING, WHICH WILL BE FOUND TO CONTAIN MUCH OF INTEREST.

Dear Register: It seems quite a long while since I had the pleasure of communicating with you, although but a little over two months have passed away since then. This time, too, has been too much engaged in the duties and activities necessarily consequent upon arriving in a strange place that is to be the future home to permit much correspondence, however desirable, with old friends. Now, however, that I am to have a temporary cessation of such duties and activities, I shall yield to my desire to breathing word concerning it. The intellirenew our acquaintance that for some years has been to me so pleasant. Two months is doubtless too short a time for one to form correct impressions or country, or even of a city, and of the distinguishing characteristics of the people. It has always seemed to me thoroughly ridiculous in foreigners visiting this or any other country for but a few months, and then returning to their homes and pretending to give published descriptions of the country visited. How little of our country would such a runner grasp? Yet reputations as extensive travellers have been gained by men in just this very cheap way. Richmond is said, and I presume justly, old part of the city is very far from being attractive in any way save perhaps in the fact that it is where the most of the wholesale houses are located. Its streets, however, are for the most part narrow. It is at Twelfth or Thirteenth street and going westward, or rather northwestward, you soon enter upon quite wide streets, almost all with rows of various kinds of shadetrees, and with many private residences that would vie with those of the largest cities in the country. There are no streets in any city that present at least a more home-like appearance than Franklin, Grace, and Marshall. These are the principal "driving streets," and every summer evening these are quite alive with carriages of all descriptions. There are some very pleasant drives around the city, but none of them furnishes the variegated scenery that is found on your own have often seen some of your young men variations. drive. No care and skill of the hostler can save from rapid ruin the best feet and shoulders that were ever on a horse with such driving. This may seem a digression; but we are having rather a social chat than a sermon, and so we need not be so particu- former was as black as night. lar about "sticking to our text." Besides, The twenty-seventh session of this institution will begin on the 1st DAY OF OCTOBER, 1878. The house will be thoroughly repaired and refurnished for the accommodation of Boarding and Day Pupils, and no effort will be spared which can contribute to the improvement, health, and happiness of those who may be entrusted to the care of the Principal. may take out some of his starch, to be in- futile attempt to see the sun's disc, went P. Evidently some in the other. And we have generally found it to be true that to gain the sympathy and confidence of a young man, and through this to have any real influence over him, we must show some intelligent interest in his horse. The most pleasant drive here is out by Holly wood Cemetery and the new reservoir, and around the latter is a very fine carriageway whence one can inhale the purest atmosphere and have an extensive view of the surrounding country. This reservoir has been built within a few years, while quite for the summer swelterers of the city. It can never rival at least in the views which it will command the far-famed garden of our friend Hornbrook, but it already foreshadows much beauty and attractiveness.

The number healthy of new buildings, too, both as storerooms few years, together with the improvements which the city itself has been making, argue that hope and confidence are surely, if slowly, returning. For the city improvements proper much is due to the taste, skill, and energy of the City Engineer, Colonel Cutshaw. Over this gentleman's reelection there was quite a that at the close of the war scarcely any one owned anything, and that the very flower

The chief articles of merchandise here are tobacco, flour, and guano. The interests of the first of these commodities have been suffering recently from the failure of the passage at the last Congress of "the tobacco tax." The nature of this lation should not be made on behalf of any even, of any of the others. We must have ble winds, mostly southerly, stationary or a supreme government, but that government being supreme, and thus universal, them in such a way as to encourage, stimulate, and develop the special and peculiar interests of each section. It cannot be seen to be discharging the full ment if it does act thus. And if at any time the interests of the respective sections should really clash, then unquestionably those of the majority should be preeminently regarded. This, surely, is republicansm; and yet how difficult it must be for law-makers to realize their duty in such matters, so vast in extent is this country? For culture, breadth, and true generosity I have only had my former impressions of the southern character deepened and intensified. I have never received more marked proofs of these characteristics among any people, nor have I ever felt freer to utter it the hearing of any people my "bonest" thoughts in plain, blunt phrase. The war is still talked of-who could expect it to be otherwise? Yet I have not heard a single acrimonious or revengegent men with whom I have conversed hold county should raise money to prosecute the themselves and their State in good faith as part of the great Union, and the "bloody shirt" I have never seen flaunted. All to gain a full knowledge of a section of a hearts seem now to beat in sweet sympathy to the refrain of "A union of lakes, a union of lauds, A union that nothing can sever; A union of hearts, a union of hands, Our glorious Union forever."

Nor do I believe that any man could be elevated to any office to-day by the better and Dr. B. Burwell, Powhatan. and thinking people of Richmond by the leverage of disunion principles.

By the way, quite an interest is being felt in Richmond just now over the nomination and election of a member to Congress. "I Richmond is said, and I presume justly, think there will be six Richmonds in the open city of the South. The field "Herely General Joseph E. Johnfield," literally. General Joseph E. Johnston is one of the six. What his chances ston is one of the six. What his chances are learned are I cannot say. Surely, however, if the State of Virginia on her own principles and are to be supplied with hot and cold States, 10; Ireland, 1; Scotland, 1; Switzerever, are for the most part narrow. PROTRACTED MEETING .- Monday night closed an interesting protracted meeting at Ridge church, seven miles above Richmond. The meeting was conducted by Revs. J. S. Bethel and James H. Wright, from Richmond, and resulted in the conversion of forty-five persons, nineteen of whom were baptized Sunday in the presence of one of the largest congregations that ever assembled in that part of the county. There will be baptizing again next Sunday at Dr Mickell's farm.

POLICE COURT, YESTERDAY .- Justice Joseph J. White presiding .- Frank O'Conner was up, charged with feloniously cutting Frank Craven. These parties had a dispute Monday night in the bar-room of Thomas O'Conner, on Dock street, which ended in a fight. Before they could be separated Struck out-Off Hankins, 6; off Carr, 3 | Craven received a cut over the right eye, Total strikes called-Off Hankins, 38; off which he said was done with a knife. O'Conner, on the other hand, claims that he used nothing but his fist. The wounded man not appearing in court this morning, the case was continued to Thursday. O'Conner was bailed for his appearance. THESE SPRINGS.

Miss F—, aged thirty, was examined June the 15th, 1878, and the following history of her case elicited: For several years she had experienced repeated attacks of intermittent fever, which had produced great debility, attended by frequently recurring paroxysms of functional disease of the heart by dyspepsia and gastraigia, so intense that vegetable food had been entirely excluded from her diet. There had also been paralysis of the lower limbs to such an extent that she had been forced to have recourse to crutches.

particularly the boys who remember the gay and festive days of the invincible Alerts and gallant Independents, will be glad to know that John C. is a happy husband and father in St. Louis; that George R. is doing well in Atchison, Kansas; and that Robert H. reports that he is "still living" at Frankfort, in the same State. They have not forgotten old Virginia, and often sing "Home, Sweet Home" and "In the Sweet By-and-Bye."
